P R E F A C E.

THE series of Papal Regesta preserved in the Vatican archives consists of more than two thousand volumes, placed in the order of successive pontificates, and covering the period from the end of the twelfth century to the end of the sixteenth. They contain contemporary, or nearly contemporary, copies of bulls, letters, and similar documents addressed to royal, noble, ecclesiastical, and other persons throughout the world. The system of registration in the Papal Chancery was not, however, nearly so perfect as that in the Chancery of the English kings, and there are still extant in the Public Record Office, in the British Museum, and elsewhere, many original bulls of which no mention can be found in the Regesta. Notwithstanding this defect, the volumes constitute an almost continuous record of very great historical value. They contain diplomatic correspondence, commissions to legates and nuncios, orders concerning ecclesiastical appointments, confirmations of monastic endowments and privileges, dispensations and indulgences to laymen as well as to clerks, and a vast amount of miscellaneous matter.

Several attempts have been already made to bring the contents of certain volumes of the Papal Regesta under the notice of students, and to make them available for historical purposes.

The Regesta of Innocent III. (1198-1216) were printed in extenso by Baluze in 1682, and re-printed by the Abbé Migne.

Nature of the Papal Regesta.

Previous publications.

Having regard, however, to the great bulk of the original volumes, and the amount of verbiage which they contain, subsequent editors have generally been satisfied with giving abstracts or extracts, and the Regesta of several pontificates have been treated in this manner.

The Abate Pressuti has published a calendar of those of Honorius III. (1216–1227).

The Benedictines attached to the staff of the Vatican archives have dealt more fully with those of Clement V. (1305–1314).

The late Cardinal Hergenröther, while Vatican archivist, projected and partially printed an edition of those of Leo X. (1513–1521).

The opening of the Vatican archives to students of all nations, by order of Pope Leo XIII., has enabled the Écoles Françaises d'Athènes et de Rome, under the direction of the Minister of Public Instruction at Paris, to undertake systematic series of calendars of the Regesta of different pontificates, with a separate editor for each. Up to the present time the following have been set in hand:—

Gregory IX. (1227–1241). M. L. Audray.

Innocent IV. (1243–1254). M. E. Berger.

Urban IV. (1261–1264). MM. Dorez and Guiraud.

Clement IV. (1265–1269). M. E. Jordan.

Gregory X. (1271–1276). M. J. Guiraud.

John XXI. (1276, 1277). M. L. Cadier.

Honorius IV. (1285–1287). M. M. Prou.

Nicholas IV. (1288–1292). M. E. Langlois.

Boniface VIII. (1294–1303). MM. G. Sigard, M. Faucon, and A. Thomas.

Benedict XI. (1303, 1304). M. Ch. Grandjean.

Of the foregoing, the Calendar for the pontificate of Honorius IV. has been completed, and that for the pontificate of Nicholas IV. is almost completed. The others are in different stages of progress.

Unfortunately, this very valuable series of publications is but little known in England, and some of the parts are already out of print.

There is no occasion to enumerate in this place the many books which give in extenso papal bulls and letters relating to particular subjects and countries, but an exception must be made in favour of a folio volume printed at the Vatican in 1864, in which the late Father A. Theiner collected extracts from the archives relating to Ireland and Scotland between the years 1216 and 1547 inclusive, under the title of "Vetera Monumenta Hibernorum et Scotorum historiam illustrantia." The want of an index is a serious detriment to the value of the book.

A somewhat similar collection of papal bulls and letters relating to England, Scotland, and Ireland alike, made by the late Abbate Marino Marini, covers the period from 1216 to 1759, and extends to fifty manuscript volumes, which were transferred from the State Paper Office to the British Museum in 1845 (Add. MSS. 15,351-15,400). Dean Milman made some use of this collection in his History of Latin Christianity, but its existence is not very generally known to students.

The object of the present undertaking is to provide an English Calendar of all entries in the Papal Regesta of the middle ages which illustrate the history of Great Britain and Ireland. For this purpose the successive volumes have been examined page by page, and, although it would be too much to say that nothing has been overlooked, the number of entries given is very materially larger than that given by Marini.

Object of the present Calendar.

Every entry that the editor has seen relating to Great Britain and Ireland is noted in its due order in the

Some details omitted.

Calendar, but formal clauses of frequent recurrence have been omitted, as also certain details which may be found in printed books, to which references are given.

Christian names.

As in the Calendars of the mediæval Patent Rolls and Close Rolls, which are being issued under the superintendence of the Deputy Keeper of the Records, ordinary Christian names are given in this Calendar according to their commonest modern English forms, while surnames, on the other hand, are given according to the form used in the Regesta.

Names of places.

Most names of places are given in the Calendar according to the form used in the Regesta, the ordinary abbreviations being extended. "Those, however, which occur in obviously Latinised forms, have been translated and printed according to the modern form, the original rendering being in some cases retained within brackets."

"In the Index, too, the names of places are given according to their ordinary modern form, when they can be identified with certainty and without difficulty."*

Palæographical difficulties.

Some very fine photographic reproductions of selected leaves from the Papal Regesta may be seen in a volume published at the Vatican in 1888, under the title of "Specimina palæographica Regestorum Romanorum Pontificum." Although the originals do not present so many palæographical difficulties as the mediæval rolls of the English Chancery, difficulties which are explained in Mr. Maxwell Lyte's prefaces to the official Calendars of Patent Rolls and Close Rolls, the abbreviations are sometimes perplexing. More frequent confusion arises from the very erroneous manner in which the papal scribes copied, perhaps from dictation, the names of persons and places in distant lands. An attempt has been made in the Index to give proper names in a recognisable form, but in many cases the task of identification has proved hopeless.

* Preface to Calendar of Patent Rolls, 1327-1330.

The present volume embraces the period from 1198 to 1304, which is contained in Vols. 4 to 51 of the Regesta, the first three volumes not belonging properly to the series.

The Deputy Keeper of the Records has laid down the rules for the formation of this Calendar, and has settled many difficulties which have from time to time arisen. The editor has to thank Mr. C. T. Martin for many very valuable corrections and suggestions, and Mr. H. Rodney for assistance in the revision of the Index.

3 Id. Aug.
Perugia.
(f. 2d.)

Restriction of a clause in a suit between the archbishops of Tuam and Armagh. In an audience granted by Innocent III. the archbishop of Tuam stated that the archbishop of Armagh had despoiled him by violence of the bishoprics of Ardagh and Kevan belonging to him as metropolitan, and of the churches of Kellmedoin, Kellbenoim, Craachpatric, Achadabain, Odun, and Turlacha, built and consecrated by his predecessors, and demanded restitution and compensation; the pope appointed Master Gregory, papal chaplain, to examine witnesses, who found it not proved that the archbishop of Armagh had despoiled the archbishop of Tuam of those bishoprics; the question of the proprietorship of the rest being reserved; but since it appeared that the archbishop of Tuam was in possession, the late pope prohibited the archbishop of Armagh from exercising episcopal rights over churches in the diocese of Tuam. It is now declared that the archbishop of Tuam has only episcopal rights, and that he is not to usurp any other in the said towns and churches.

(f. 4.)

Letter to G. cardinal of St. Martin's, papal legate, concerning the election to the see of Hereford. T. the chancellor, and A. canon of Hereford, proctors of the dean and chapter have 1216.

stated before the pope that, after obtaining from king John licence to elect, they elected the dean to be bishop in due form, but that the king refused his assent, and appealed to the pope. They therefore prayed for confirmation of the election. Hubert, archdeacon of Arennes (de Harenis), and R. the king's envoys, on the other hand stated that the chapter had incurred excommunication by favouring E. late bishop of Hereford, who had been excommunicated by N. bishop of Winchester and the bishop elect of Norwich. and that their election was consequently null. The proctors replied that the two prelates had only threatened the bishop with suspension if he did not make his peace with the king, and that he immediately returned to the king's grace, and died before reaching Hereford. They cited also, as evidence that the king did not consider them excommunicate, his letter to the chapter desiring them to elect a certain clerk of his. The pope orders his legate to make enquiries and to take measures for the confirmation of the election, if valid, or for a fresh election if necessary.

Whereas certain of the brethren abstained from eating flesh meat in the refectory, some taking it in secret and unbecoming places (in abditis receptaculis et conventiculis inhonestis), so that the common table was half deserted, and quarrels and breaches of the rule ensued, H. late archbishop of Canterbury, coming to visit the priory, ordered the brethren to conform to the rule of St. Augustine, and on certain days to eat flesh meat together in the refectory, but some of them grumbling, the old abuses returned in greater force than ever. The pope therefore orders the observance of the archbishop's decree.

16 Kal. April.

Lateran.
(f. 87d.)

Indult to the abbot of St. Augustine's Canterbury, to extend the term for delivery in the suit between him and the archbishop of Canterbury to next Michaelmas. When this suit was brought before pope Innocent by Master Richard, envoy of the archbishop of Canterbury, the abbot asserting that he ought to receive benediction without having to make profession of obedience to the archbishop, according to the sentence of pope Alexander, which, however, Master Richard declared had been revoked by the same pope, it was decided by pope Innocent that the abbot should receive benediction without prejudice to the rights of the archbishop, appointing to each a term in the general council about to be held, in which, if the archbishop could show that the abbot ought to make to him the said profession, it would be made, if not, the abbot would be freed from the obligation. When the parties appeared before pope Innocent, the abbot petitioned him to proceed in the cause according to the form above noted, and the archbishop answered that he could not then proceed against the abbot, being hindered by other business, and not having full instructions; but the pope, being unwilling that the suit should be prolonged, said that he would either act as if the archbishop had appealed to Rome, or would confirm his predecessor's sentence, imposing perpetual silence on the archbishop. Whereupon the archbishop pleaded that the abbot was bound, by common right, to make profession to him, and prayed him to do so; on which the abbot answered that if he were bound by common right, by special right he was exempt, showing the privileges of the foundation of the church, and the sentence given by pope Alexander for the monastery; also reminding the archbishop that, contrary to the tenour of the privileges of the monastery, he had unlawfully excommunicated servants and clerks belonging thereto.

Mandate to G. cardinal of St. Martin's, papal legate, to enquire and report on a petition of the dean and chapter of Salisbury. They state that the cathedral, being within the line of defence, is subject to so many inconveniences, that the canons cannot live there without danger to life. Being in a raised place, the continual gusts of wind make such a noise that the clerks can hardly hear one another sing, and the place is so rheumatic by reason of the wind, that they very often suffer in health. The church, they say, is so shaken by wind and storm that it daily needs repair; and the site is without trees and grass, and being of chalk has such a glare that many of the clerks have lost their sight. Water, they say, is only to be got at a distance, and often at a price that, elsewhere, would buy enough for the whole district. If the clerks have occasion to go in and out on business, they cannot do so without leave of the castellan, so that on Ash Wednesday, Holy Thursday, and on synodal and ordination, and other solemn days, the faithful who wish to visit the church cannot do so, the keepers of the castle declaring that the defences would be endangered. Moreover, as many of the clerks have no dwellings there, they have to hire them from the soldiers, so that few are found willing or able to reside on the spot.

Mandate to the same to examine and make necessary dispositions touching a matter about which the king, the archbishops of Dublin and York, and the bishops of London, Winchester, Bath, and Worcester have written to the pope, praying him to remove the canons regular of Carlisle, who have publicly communicated with the disturbers of the king and realm who were excommunicated by the pope and the legate, and have celebrated divine offices in places under an interdict, and have also voluntarily submitted themselves to the king of Scotland, who is fighting against his liege lord, and therefore excommunicate, and at his instance presumed to elect a bishop. He is to place these canons in other regular churches, to declare null the election attempted by them, to appoint to that church persons faithful to the king, to distribute the possessions and rents of the church between the bishops and canons to be appointed, the king and the said bishops attesting that such measures would tend to tranquillity, as the church of Carlisle, being on the border, exercises much influence either for or against the king and his realm.

8 Kal. Nov.
Lateran.
(f. 166d.)

Mandate to G. cardinal legate of St. Martin's, the archbishop of York, and the bishop of Salisbury, touching a petition of G. archdeacon of Norwich. He states that pope Innocent ordered the above named (the bishop of Salisbury being then bishop of Chichester) either to terminate the suit between himself and Master R. de Eboraco about the bishopric of Ely, or to remit it to Rome, but, on account of the troubles of the realm, this order could not be carried out, and the proctor of the said R. asserting that the archbishop was at such a distance from Ely that he could not, without heavy expense, take cognisance of the cause, cleverly contrived that the cause should be delegated to the abbot of Waltham and his colleagues, one of whom was at a distance of four days' journey from the rest. When the parties appeared before these judges, the same Master [R.], to put off the decision, propounded that he, having been despoiled, could not proceed in the cause. He, however, had not been despoiled by the archdeacon or anyone belonging to him, but by Falk, a knight, and other ministers of the king, who held Ely, and cast out of the church and city the aiders and abettors of Lewis. His return would injure the king and realm. The archdeacon has, therefore, prayed the pope to remit the cause to the above, and this he does, notwithstanding the letters to the contrary obtained by the said Master [R.].

Although the said proceeds were granted by the pope for three years to the crusade, on the provost's taking the cross, it appears from letters of the king and G. cardinal legate, and the chapter of York, that the provost made no testamentary disposition of such proceeds, as was suggested, but resigned his benefices before setting out, and, on taking the vow, went to Fountains Abbey, where he died as an oblate of the monastery.

8 Id. Nov.

(f. 284d.)

Mandate to the archbishop of Canterbury to examine and decide the following case:—Master Alexander resigned the church of Exiministre into the hands of S. papal chamberlain, whereupon the pope gave it to Master Pandulph, papal sub-deacon and notary, by mandate addressed to Gualo, cardinal of St. Martin's, papal legate, and the bishop of Exeter; but Master Adam Aaron opposed the execution of this mandate, saying that he had been canonically instituted in the said church, and producing witnesses and deeds in his support, so that the bishop remitted the matter to the pope, enjoining Adam Aaron to appear before him, upon which the pope appointed as auditor Master P., his chaplain, before whom the said notary [Pandulph] demanded that Adam Aaron should be removed from the said church, and that it should be assigned to him who had acquired it by papal collation; but Adam Aaron answered that the resignation made into the hands of the said chamberlain was null, as the church was not in the possession of the person who was said to have resigned it, but that Adam himself possessed it, and had possessed it lawfully for a time. To the reply which the adverse party made, that the cause was remitted to the pope, Adam answered that it was remitted without instructions, so that the said legate and bishop were [in fact] ordered not to take cognisance, but to execute, and his witnesses and deeds were produced, not that they as judges should take cognisance, but to show that they ought not to proceed in the execution of the said matter. To the rejoinder made by the adverse party, that the right in the church was acquired by papal collation, he answered that this was by no

(f. 91.)

Letter from the king of the French to the pope in answer to a letter urging him to prolong the truce with the king of England for the sake of the Holy Land and the Albigenian territory. He will do this unless he is obliged to defend himself against the king of England. Although the sons of King John have not the resources of their father, the king of France is unwilling to swear a truce, for he is of advanced age, and is obliged to observe his oath, while the sons of King John are under age, and therefore not so bound, so that he will cause his barons to swear the treaty, in number equal to those by whom the king of England shall cause it to be sworn.

(f. 91d.)

Mandate to the bishop of Salisbury and Pandulph, bishop elect of Norwich, papal legate, on the petition of the bishop of Winchester, to grant him a faculty to transfer a monastery of nuns from the centre of the city, where they are exposed to the observation and empty talk of passers by, to the church of St. Cross, which he will do at his own and the monastery's cost, and also to place secular canons in the monastery.

St. Peter's, Rome.
(f. 98.)

Mandate to Pandulph, bishop elect of Norwich, papal legate, on the intimation of W. the marshal, earl of Pembroke, after examination had, to remove Master P. Malvicinus, canon of St. Patrick's, Dublin, of illegitimate birth, from the church of Ossory, of which the earl has the right of patronage. It appears that, during the voidance of that see, Master P. without a dispensation, attempted, in the hope first of election and then of postulation, to put himself into the church and minister in it, and that when he came with four canons to ask for confirmation from the archbishop of Dublin, he procured certain letters to be sealed with the seal of the chapter, by which, as far as he could, he bound the church in a sum of 500 marks, although the chapter had expressly forbidden any letters, except those of procuration, to be sealed. It is feared that there are others sealed, to the great injury of the church of Ossory, as the letters of archdeacon G. and official R., sent to the pope by the said marshal, fully declare.

Temple, London.
(f. 150d.)

Letter from Reginald, king of the Isles, to the pope. At the exhortation of Pandulph, papal legate, he has given to the pope his island of Man, and he binds himself and his heirs to hold it in fee from the Roman church, and to pay homage and fealty for it, paying yearly 12 marks in England at the abbey of Furnis, on the feast of the Purification. This gift the legate received on the part of the pope, and gave the island in fee to the king and his heirs, to be held in the name of the Roman church. The king of the Isles therefore informs the pope that at the mandate of the legate he has sworn to observe the aforesaid, and to give security for himself and his heirs and the men of the island; in testimony whereof he has caused these letters patent to be made. Viterbo. prelates of England, by spiritual and temporal constraint
(f. 187.) (distractione), to retire from the king's castles, manors, towns

The bishop obtained papal letters to the bishop of Dunblane and his fellow judges against the said H. alleging that he refused to render account of what he had received for the fabric of the church of St. Andrews, so that H. being absent on the prior's business, was excommunicated as contumacious, and sentences were issued of suspension against the sub-prior and chapter and of interdict against the church.  out to come to Rome with the archbishop of Canterbury to show that the letters were founded on a false accusation, and supported by letters from the archbishop of York and other prelates and great men, was hindered by infirmity. The pope then ordered enquiry to be made, first by the cardinal of St. Martin's, and then by S. papal chamberlain, and others, and allege anything against the bishop, who answered that they did not. The pope revokes all proceedings taken against the Letter to Master James, papal legate, in answer to his. Wishes that he had chosen, as the pope ordered him, such companions as would not have, either by deed or word, injured his good fame, but as he has not, it is his own doing that many speak ill of him. The pope hopes he will so act as to show his detractors to be false and to reduce them to silence. As to the demand made by the king of Scots to be crowned by the legate, it is a matter of his, since that king is said to be subject to the king of England: the pope therefore wishes the legate to have nothing to do with the coronation, unless the king of England and his counsellors consent, in which case he can proceed to it, taking counsel of the prelates of England.

Walen', that, under the rule of the bishop of St. Asaph, bastards of priests and parsons succeed, as of right, to their father's churches, and that the said bishop takes money from many such bastards when a church becomes void, and that churches get into the hands of laymen, who appoint illiterate clerks, and that the bishop, caring only for his own gain neglects the clergy, who, despoiled and oppressed by him and his ministers, do not dare to resist him, to enquire and report to the pope, that he may take proceedings against the bishop.

11 Kal. Mar.

Lateran.
(f. 204d.)

Mandate to the bishop of Lincoln to remove from their benefices married clerks and others who have succeeded their fathers, to appoint vicars who shall reside and shall be advanced to the priesthood, as their cures require, and to take proceedings against pluralists who have no papal dispensation.

Anagni.
(f. 205.)

Mandate to the bishop of Salisbury, the abbot of Waverley, and the prior of Brueri, in the dioceses of Winchester and Lincoln to enquire, and if advisable to grant a licence demanded by M. a clerk, who states that whereas he, with the consent of his brother next in succession, has founded on his property a religious house, Walter de Verdun and others of his family who hoped to succeed to the property, taking it ill, disturb M. and those who live there; wherefore he prays the pope to assign to him sufficient of his goods to support the house, and

- 13 Kal. April. Mandate to the cardinal archbishop of Canterbury and his fellow judges, on the showing of John Sarraceni, clerk, that when Jolanus, clerk of the diocese of Durham, brought an action against him before them touching the church of St. Nicholas, Durham, exception was taken on the part of the said John that he ought not to be cited before them by authority of papal letters, inasmuch as [the court] was more than two days journey distant from the said church, but that they nevertheless went on with the cause, on the ground that the said John having benefices in the dioceses of Rochester and Ely, must be considered to have a domicile there. On this he appealed to the pope, but they, ignoring his appeal, put the other party in possession of the church; whereupon John, following up the appeal, obtained papal letters committing the cause to the archbishop of York and his colleagues; but in spite of this the archbishop of Canterbury, going on with the cause, inhibited the said judges from proceeding in the business committed to them. Wherefore the pope has ordered the cardinal archbishop of Canterbury and his fellow judges to withdraw from the cause, as not they, but the said judges have to take cognisance of it.

Mandate to the archbishop of York and the bishops of Carlisle and Exeter, on the information of James, papal legate, and several bishops of Scotland, that Alan, constable of Scotland, was of such close kindred and affinity to his wife, that they could not cohabit without mortal sin. The legate demanded of the pope what was to be done, on which the pope answered that the Scottish bishops were to be called together, and that, on ascertaining the facts, the legate was to do what was right. But since Alan's proctor made further instance that the pope would not deny that justice which is due to all, the case is now committed to the above, with orders to examine all persons concerned, and to do what is according to the law of God and the good of souls. Not content with this, his servants and others have broken into their towns and houses, assaulted their servants, and carried away corn and other things, doing mischief to the amount of 1,000 marks. On the part of the bishop and prior William it is urged that the said S. was involved with other monks of the convent in a sentence of excommunication, and that some of them attacked the said William and despoiled him of the priory, so that on his part and that of the bishop it was demanded that the monks should be excommunicated until they made satisfaction, and William restored to the priory. The pope also orders them to supersede the question now pending about the institution of the prior.

10 Kal. Jan.

Lateran.
(f. 134.)

Mandate to the cardinal archbishop of Canterbury, touching H. monk of Theokesbiri. When he, by the abbot's order, came to Rome, he was asked by R. proctor of the archdeacon of Gloucester to get certain letters for him from the pope, and he paid money to a clerk, who gave him false letters, which he believed to be true, and he consequently asked the man for whom he got them to refund the money he had paid. But when their falseness appeared, he withdrew his claim, and he now begs that a dispensation may be granted to him on account of what he did in ignorance. Such letters do not agree with the transcript in the papal chancery. The pope has never given to any abbot leave to wear gloves and give solemn benediction. Lateran.
(f. 185.)

Mandate to the archbishop of Dublin to give sentence in a cause between the abbot and convent of St. Thomas, and Nicholas de Felda, a layman, about some land which belonged to R. his late father, it having been objected in the lay court that N. who appeared as his father's heir, was illegitimate. The question of legitimacy having been moved and discussed before the archbishop, nothing remained but to give sentence. Certain minors, who did not otherwise appear in the cause asserting by their guardian that it would be to their prejudice if sentence were given in favour of N., who they declared was not legitimate, inasmuch as they were children of the deceased by a lawful wife, appealed to the pope that the archbishop should not proceed in the cause, so that to the loss of the abbot and convent it remains unsettled: sentence is to be given without prejudice to the minors, who are to be indemnified.

3 Non. Aug.

Lateran.
(f. 1.)

Request to the king of France to abstain from invading the territory of the king of England, with whom the pope has in vain urged him to prolong the truce in consideration of the Holy Land, in the cause of which the power of France has been the chief, and for which the pope has taken counsel with the emperor Ferdinand and the king of Sicily, so that by a general peace between Christian princes it should be possible for them all to come to its assistance. The pope has sent the Cistercian abbot of Hautecombe (de Columba) to represent him personally in this matter. [Shirley, i. 541.]

Ibid.

Concurrent mandate to the said abbot.

(f. 1d.)

Letter to king Henry acknowledging his letters by the abbots of Boxeli and Robertsbridge. He has written to the king of France about the business of Poitou, sending also letters to the same about the business of the count of La Marche. As he is unwilling that the truce should be postponed by occasion of choosing arbiters between the two kings to settle damages to be paid for injuries inflicted on either side during the truce, the pope suggests that the king should give his entire endeavours to a renewal of the truce.

n.d.

Lateran.
(f. 4d.)

Mandate to the cardinal archbishop of Canterbury to cause the king to cease from attacking Falches de Breauté, against whom the archbishop and certain bishops have issued sentence of excommunication. The pope asks for explanations on the subject. Why, if these discords have arisen since the archbishop's letters informing him that peace was entirely restored in England, did not the archbishop at once let him know of them? Does the archbishop say that justice required that Falches should be attacked? At any rate, expediency required the contrary. Where is his abundant wisdom if it is by his advice that the king is making war on his subjects? He is also ordered to relax the sentence issued against Falches and his abettors.

[Shirley, i. 543.]

n.d.

Lateran.
(f. 4d.)

Monition to king Henry to raise the siege of the castle of Bedford, which his father gave to Falches de Breauté, and not to make war on his own subjects while foreign enemies are making war on his realm. The pope will, if required, settle any question between that nobleman and the king. [Shirley, i. 544.]

n.d.

(f. 5.)

Mandate to S. cardinal archbishop of Canterbury, Hubert de Burgo, justiciar, and others, the king's counsellors, to persuade the king to withdraw from the siege of the above castle, and to get the better of his vassals by benefits rather than by arms.

n.d.

(f. 5.)

Letters to the pope, from [Lewis] king of France, sent by Stephen, his clerk, informing him that when the truce, settled between the late king Philip and himself of the one part, and king Henry of the other, was threatened, Lewis, who had no counsel from his barons as to making the truce with Henry, went in person to take possession of his fiefs of Poitou, of which and other fiefs in France king John had been deprived by sentence of his peers the French barons, before Henry was born, since which time all those fiefs came into the hands of Philip and himself as heir to the realm of France; but Henry, offering opposition to this on the part of the realm of England as a fief of the Roman church, sends an army to claim those fiefs of Lewis, of which John had been deprived by sentence of his peers. Lewis therefore prays the pope to revoke what has been done on the part of England as a papal fief; but if the king of England has acted on the pope's authority, the pope must not be surprised if Lewis determines to oppose him.

Mandate to the priors of Kirkeham, Newburgh, and St. Andrew's, York, to cite both parties in the cause between the prior and brethren of St. Peter's hospital, York, and the abbots of Fountains, Meaux, Beiland, Girvalla and Kirkestall, about sheaves and other dues claimed by the hospital, which was tried by order of pope Innocent before the dean of Lincoln and his fellow judges, who wished to consult the pope on some points. Owing to the disturbed state of the realm the cause was left in abeyance, but now, on petition of the prior and brethren, it is renewed. The parties are to appear before the pope either in person or by proctors, to receive terms of agreement or a sentence.

Ibid.
(f. 31d.)

Mandate to S. cardinal archbishop of Canterbury, to act in his province as shall seem expedient in regard to the ancient custom of not permitting oaths to be taken between Septuagesima and the octave of Easter, and during Advent; the king having represented that the custom greatly hinders the course of justice. (f. 49d.)

Commission to the cardinal archbishop of Canterbury to proceed to a decision of a suit relating to the alleged marriage of Alan, knight, and Juliana, heard before the abbot of Bruern and his fellow judges. It was proved by witnesses that marriage had been contracted, but Alan pleaded an alibi, which the woman contested. Alan appealed to the pope, and though he renounced the appeal and continued to litigate before the delegates, he obtained papal letters to the dean of Andovre and others, before whom the woman propounded that the letters had been obtained by misrepresentation, and that the cause should be remitted to the former judges. This was not admitted; whereupon she appealed to the pope. But the first judges proceeding in the cause, though for fear of the knight and their own want of skill, they pronounced no sentence, remitted it to the pope, ordering the woman to present herself at the beginning of last Lent, which she has done, praying for judgment, but the pope, doubting whether the acts and attestations she brought with her were true, sends this mandate, ordering the archbishop, if the said knight will not be induced to treat the woman as a wife, to have the original acts produced and decide the matter.

Mandate to the bishop of Caithness, the precentor of Moray, and the archdeacon of Aberdeen, on satisfactory proof, to restore to Maurice Cecus, all of which he has been despoiled, or, in the absence of proof of the spoliation, to report to the pope on the process: the churches named are those of St. Mary de Nugh and the chapel of Standuwich, St. Morach de Alter, and Tarvadal, Struf; also lands of Ardecondoch and Seuanede.

Id. Aug.

Rieti.
(f. 78d.)

Mandate to Stephen [Langton], cardinal archbishop of Canterbury, and Master Otto, papal sub-deacon and chaplain, on the petition of the abbot and convent of Dorchester, for the translation of the body of Birinus, bishop, in their church, to a more fitting place. The pope has already ordered the archbishop, archdeacon, and official of Canterbury to authorise the abbot and convent to do this, and has received letters from them informing him that they have been to the place and opened the tomb, which appeared to be that of the saint; but, as Bede says in his book, De gestis Anglorum, that the body had been translated to Winchester, the matter was remitted to the pope. He refers it to the archbishop, ordering him to go to Winchester and examine the matter. Inasmuch as Bede relates many things on hearsay, and as the bodies of two holy bishops, Birinus and Bertinus, were buried at Dorchester, it may be that what Bede wrote of Bertinus, has, by the carelessness of copyists, been applied to Birinus. The archbishop is therefore to pronounce that the body of St. Birinus is at Dorchester, and is to give papal licence to the abbot and convent to translate it.

Relaxation of twenty days of enjoined penance to those penitents who visit the church of St. Mary, En (de Augo), in the diocese of Rouen, in which the body of St. Laurence, archbishop of Dublin, is buried, on the appointed feast of that saint or during the octave. The examination into the life and miracles of St. Laurence was ordered to be made by the archbishop, the dean, and the treasurer of Rouen, but, as St. Laurence arrived there only a week before his death, they wrote to the archbishop of Dublin, who, being occupied in the king's business out of Ireland, committed the matter to the bishop of Derry and the prior of Holy Trinity Dublin, who received depositions of witnesses, and sent them to the pope, from which it appears that St. Laurence was son of the king and queen of Ireland, well instructed in theology from his earliest years, and always far removed from levity and worldly delights; being made archbishop he was constant in prayer, bodily mortifications, and almsgiving: as to his miracles, the deaf, dumb, and sick are healed; he restored seven dead persons to life. His feast is fixed on the 18th of December.

The above bishops are to send the proofs, with a full report, to the pope.

Ibid.
(f. 101.)

A penance is to be enjoined to the abbot and convent for their rashness, and Philip is to be satisfied for all expenses incurred.

At length a composition was made between Eustace and Henry, canons and proctors of the convent, and the said William, who made oath that if they could prove that he accepted, after the council, any benefice with cure of souls, or if he could obtain the church of Lilliselive, which he was striving to get he would surrender Rossinlerach. But as they are not prosecuting the suit, he continues to hold that church, and the said chaplain has received nothing under this provision, the pope makes order as above, adding that, if the chaplain cannot have the said church, another of equal value is to be given him. If the prior and convent do neither of these things, the bishop, dean, and treasurer of Glasgow have orders to compel them.

Lateran.
(f. 133d.)

Mandate to the cardinal archbishop of Canterbury, the bishop of Salisbury, and the abbot of Westminster, on petition of the abbot of Theokesbiri, to revoke what has been attempted after appeal made to the pope in regard to certain letters supposed to have been obtained from the pope, by which the use of pontificals was granted to the monastery of Theokesbiri, but of which the abbot did not avail himself. It appears that R. and W., two excommunicate monks, had falsified the seal of the monastery, and one had falsely accused the abbot of collusion with those commissioned by the pope to enquire into the matter. The cardinal, bishop, and abbot are ordered not to permit the abbot to be molested in regard to the above matter; but if he has availed himself of the said letters, the pope is to be informed of it.

5 Id. June.

Lateran.
(f. 136.)

Mandate to the dean and chapter of York to pay 6 marks yearly to Master Laurence de Sancto Nicolao, papal sub-deacon and chaplain, whether present or absent, in respect of a prebend given to him by the archbishop, to which being of comparatively small value, the church of Torkelinton, in the archbishop's gift, was added, and for this reason the dean and chapter wish to withhold the said sum, which, however, is paid to the holder of the prebend when non-resident in place of his share of the common fund, of which it is a part.

Ibid.

Dispensation to Master Laurence de Sancto Nicolao, papal sub-deacon and chaplain, to hold the said church of Torkelinton in addition to his other benefices.

1226.

- 15 Kal. July. Notification to Richard, count of Poitou, that the pope, wishing to preserve his rights and those of his brother, king Henry, has written to R. cardinal of St. Angelo, papal legate, and will do what is necessary.
Lateran.
 (f. 137.)

- 3 Non. July. Indult to Philip de Adham, canon of London, to hold that benefice together with those which he has.
Lateran.
 (f. 137*d.*)

- 10 Kal. July. Mandate to the deans of York and Norhimbria and the archdeacon of Norhimbria to enquire and report under seal to the pope touching the division of the possessions and rents of the church of Carlisle between the bishop and the prior and convent, made by virtue of a papal mandate to this effect to the abbot of Holecultram and his colleagues. Certain houses below the infirmary and other offices have been by them improvidently assigned to the bishop; and the sub-delegates divided certain proceeds, formerly belonging to the prior and convent, between them and the bishop, both parties being absent; the bishop also usurps the collation of churches in the gift of the prior and convent.

- 6 Kal. July. Monition to the bishop of Worcester to cease from burdening the abbot and convent of Theokesbiry by celebrating ordinations there, and by himself, his archdeacons, and officials holding synods and other chapters, to the disturbance and injury of the monastery.
Lateran.
 (f. 138.)

Ibid. Indult to the abbot and convent of Theokesbiry that they shall not be compelled to receive the bishop or archdeacon coming to visit their churches and parsons, or pay procurations to them beyond the amount allowed by the Lateran council.

- 5 Id. July. Injunction to the cardinal archbishop of Canterbury, to the earls Ranulf of Chester, William of Pembroc, the king's marshal, William of Warenne, Gilbert of Gloucester, William de Mandeville of Essex, and William of Albemarle, to Hubert de Burgo and others of the king's council, to see that what the pope is writing to the king about the reconciliation of Falkes de Breaunthe and the restitution of his goods and his wife with her dower shall speedily take effect. [Shirley, i. 547.]
Lateran.
 (f. 139*f.*)

Ibid. Concurrent mandate to the bishops of Coventry, London, and Salisbury, directing them to urge the king to restore to the same Falkes what has been taken from him.
 (f. 140.)

Ibid. Letter to the king touching the same matter.

- 5 Id. July. Monition to the cardinal archbishop of Canterbury to give his assistance that what the pope writes to the king in the matter of Falkes de Breaunthe may be carried out.

6 Id. April.

Lateran.
(f. 142d.)

Mandate to the archbishop of York, on petition of P. de Winertorp, stating that his father, when in minor orders, held the church of Winertorp, and lawfully married and begot him. Afterwards, on his father's resignation, he was presented by the patron, and was instituted and ordained by the archbishop's predecessor, and he has held it for ten years, but now, on account of certain papal letters issued at the archbishop's request against the ministration of sons in their fathers' churches, he is disturbed in his possession. The archbishop is not to deprive him of the said church until he gives him another benefice.

1226.

appurtenances, which by the contrary processes of divers judges have become confused. The archdeacon has been placed in the commission, instead of the prior of Bernewell, and J. provisionally discharged. The abbot, prior, and archdeacon are now ordered to relax sentences issued against others, and to examine all letters and processes, hearing what has to be heard, and remit the causes to the pope.

5 Id. Dec.

13 Kal. Jan.

Lateran.
(f. 154.)

Answer to the archbishop and chapter of York, informing them that the pope's constitution, whereby clerks studying in the faculty of theology are to receive their ecclesiastical rents in full, does not mean that the daily commons which resident clerks receive, who are present in choir, ought to be given also to those who are absent for the purpose of study.

11 Kal. Jan.

Lateran.
(f. 155.)

Mandate to the bishop of Lincoln to cause justice to be done on those who disturb the possessions or rights of Master Laurence de Sancto Nicolao, papal sub-deacon and chaplain, after his leaving England, or who withhold their rents from those to whom he has granted the same to farm, or in any way injure him.

5 Kal. Feb.

Lateran.
(f. 165.)

Monition and mandate to the prior and convent of But[ley], in the diocese of Norwich, to make provision of a benefice in their gift to Trasmund, clerk, of Ferentino, as they have promised by letters patent, and yet when they had an opportunity of doing so, in the church of Terlinges, they did not. If they do not comply, the cardinal archbishop of Canterbury, the abbot of St. Osith's in the diocese of London, and the archdeacon of Canterbury are to compel them.

Concurrent letter to the archbishop, the abbot, and the archdeacon.

1226.

18 Kal. Jan.

Lateran.
(f. 165d.)

Mandate to the archbishop of York to compel the dean and chapter to fulfil the order given to them by the pope in regard to Master Laurence de Sancto Nicolao, papal sub-deacon and chaplain, canon of York, whose prebend was not of any certain value or in any certain place, he having only his share of the common fund. Afterwards, because very few canons resided, it was ordered by the archbishop and the dean that the common fund should be divided equally among those who resided and attended choir offices, so that whatever prebend Master Laurence had, he would get only 6 marks a year; but if he resided, he would get a share of the common fund as well. Now, as the prebend he has is of such small comparative value, the church of Trokelinton has been added to it by the archbishop; upon which the dean and chapter wish to take away the 6 marks. The pope now orders them to pay this amount, whether Laurence be absent or present, and, if he resides, to subtract nothing of his share of the common fund.

1227.

13 Kal. Feb.

Mandate to the abbot of Dereham and the priors of Westacre and Dereham, in the diocese of Norwich, to enquire into the decisions of successive judges in the cause between the abbot and convent of Kirkestede and W. rector of Beniword, in the diocese of Lincoln, touching certain tithes, the cause having been heard before the prior of Osence and his fellow judges, then, on appeal by the abbot of Wellebech and his colleagues, on the rector's appeal, by the prior of St. Mary Magdalen's and fellow judges, and on the abbot's second appeal by the prior of Walton and others. These last remitted the parties to the abbot of Wellebech and his fellow judges, who, on another appeal made by the rector, obtained that it should be delegated to the bishop of Lincoln and his fellow judges, but the abbot refused to plead before them, on the ground that the rector was excommunicate, so that the business has been hanging on for six years and more. The said abbot and priors are ordered to approve and cancel what is necessary, causing what is approved to be observed; if not, they are to refer the whole matter to the pope under seal, fixing a time for the parties to appear for sentence, notwithstanding that the prior of Westacre has a papal indult freeing him from the obligation of hearing causes against his will.

The pope referred the appeal to the prior of Anglesey and others, and the adverse party, because these judges refused to admit the exception of the said excommunication, obtained papal letters on this point to the prior of Yarmouth and others, before whom the prioress and convent pleaded that as the sentence was issued after the appeal, every excommunicate person being allowed to defend himself, the said judges acted rightly in refusing to admit the exception the prior of Yarmouth and his fellow judges would not receive such plea, and the prioress and convent appealed to the pope. The dean and archdeacons are ordered, if the facts are as stated, to proceed after revoking whatever has been done since the appeal,

- 19 Kal. Feb. Mandate to Stephen, papal chaplain, not to molest the abbot and convent of Faver[s]ham, a house founded and endowed by the ancestors of king Henry, who freed it from all servitude and cess, the said Stephen having exacted a yearly cess of one mark, under pretext of some privilege of exemption obtained by a brother of the monastery from pope Eugenius.

and the prioress and nuns of Campese in the diocese of Norwich, heard before the abbot of Huhne and his fellow judges, about the small tithes of the church of Diam, and the tithes of a mill of the same place, on which an agreement was come to between the parties under penalty of 100 marks, that the nuns should pay the tithes of the mill to the prior and convent and also in the case of gardens, orchards, and the like, if they have no indult. The pope had directed the bishop of London, the bishop of Rochester then elect, and afterwards the bishop of Coventry to make an order for the payment to Peter Mulectus, a crusader, of a certain sum of money which he had lent to the late Falkes de Briaute, crusader, by M. relict of the said Falkes, William the Marshal, earl of Pembroke and others; but afterwards, on the bishops neglecting to do this, and the said crusader declaring in his presence that in the realm of England no one dared to do him justice, he committed the matter to V. the dean, and Fulk, and B. canons of Lille, who caused to be cited Hugh de Nova Villa and Ralph son of Nicolas, the heirs of earls [William] de Mandeville and [William] of Salesbieres, the heirs of Simon son of the late Simon, W. de Bello Campo, Hugh Bassett, the earl of Chester, the Marshal of England, Godfrey de Brang', Peter de Maulai, and Thomas Basseth. These not having appeared within twelve days after the time fixed, the said judges put the said P. crusader in possession of the goods of the said nobles and ordered the prior and official of Canterbury to excommunicate them, but they have neglected to do so.

(f. 49.)

already dispensed by pope Honorius so that he could hold an additional benefice, with a proviso against illegitimacy, both in regard to illegitimacy and the benefice he has obtained, provided he does not follow in his father's footsteps.

3 Non. April.

(f. 68.)

4 Id. April.

Lateran.
(f. 76.)

Mandate to the bishop of Ely, the archdeacon of Suthbiri, and the chancellor of Cambridge, on petition of the Cluniac prior and convent of La Charité, that on a voidance of the priory of Coventry, which belongs to their church, a prior was appointed by their prior, who afterwards, without consulting either his convent, or that of La Charité, professed obedience to the bishop of Lincoln. On this the prior of La Charité removed him from the priory, and from time to time has appointed others, but he obtained papal letters to the bishop of Bath and others, who put the said bishop in possession as guardian. The bishop compelled the convent of Daventry to elect a prior threatening to expel them if they did not, and instituted him to Coventry, whereupon he was excommunicated by the prior of La Charité. On his death, when the prior instituted another, the bishop not only would not let him enter the priory, but procured him grievous injuries, although the brethren of the order of Cluny have an indult which exempts them from obedience to any bishop. And since the prior and convent of La Charité were unable to obtain possession of their convent within a year, they petitioned, but the bishop's proctor opposed their petition, on the ground that the priory of Coventry was subject to the bishop, and, on the death of prior W., was vacant for a long time, so that its provision, according to the Lateran council, lapsed to the bishop, who wished to appoint a fit person but was hindered by the prior and convent of La Charité. In this way papal letters were obtained against them to the bishop of Bath and his fellow judges, who cited them before them, and on their refusal to appear declared them contumacious, and put the bishop in possession, and this judgement the latter prays the pope to confirm. The pope now orders the above judges, with the assent of the proctors of either party, on security given by the prior and convent of La Charité to restore to them the possession of the monastery and to [re]hear and decide the question. If [the proctors will] not [assent] they are to remit the cause to be examined by the pope.

(f. 50.)

Mandate to the abbot of Stanford, in the diocese of London, Master J. de Cadomo, canon of London, and P. Garibaldi, the king's clerk, to enquire into the following matter: a papal mandate was sent to the archdeacon of Bedeford ordering him to make provision to Master Robert de Sumercote of a benefice in the diocese of Lincoln, notwithstanding a rent in the church of Croindenn, which Stephen, late archbishop of Canterbury, had granted to him as a parsonage: the parish church of Castre, in the gift of the abbot and convent of Peterborough, being at length void, the said archdeacon gave it to the said Master Robert, then studying at Bologna, inducting his proctor into corporal possession of it: afterwards the said abbot and convent, under pretext of a papal mandate which they said they had received about the provision of N. kinsman of Master Calcedonius, papal writer, made provision to him in the said church by Master J. de Ferentino, archdeacon of Norwich, to the injury of the said Master Robert; and when the question between them was brought before the pope, it was decided that the said Master Robert should have the church of Castre, notwithstanding the rent received by him from the church of Croindenn, and to pay N. 10 marks a year; but since it was

- 3 Kal. May. Mandate to the abbot of Waltham and the priors of Somp-Lateran. ingham and of Holy Trinity, London, on the signification of
(f. 15.) the abbot and convent of St. Augustine's Canterbury, that when the abbot of Boxle, the prior of Dover, and Master Th[omas de] Frokham, rector of Maydestan, came to visit the monastery, as they said by papal commission, it was excepted by the abbot and convent that by papal indult they were exempt from visitation, except by a special legate ad litem, and on this exception not being admitted, they appealed to the pope on the ground that although they did not wish to avoid the visitation, their privileges should not be overridden. Meanwhile, the said prior and rector being removed, other letters were issued to the abbots of Boxle and Beggeham and the precentor of Canterbury, ordering them to visit the monastery, upon which the abbot and convent repeated the above exception, adding that they ought not to proceed to the enquiry by letters which made no mention of the removal of the said prior and rector, and an appeal having been made to the pope by the abbot and convent; but since they attempted to do so, not admitting the exceptions, the abbot and convent appealed to the pope on which the said abbots and precentor issued a sentence of excommunication and interdict against them, ordering it to be published in all the churches of the diocese; wherefore the pope is prayed to relieve them from so many and great grievances. The pope therefore directs the said abbots and precentor not to proceed to the visitation, and orders the above abbot and priors to annul the sentences of excommunication and interdict, and to correct and reform what is necessary in the monastery.

1233.

(Ibid.)
(f. 24.)

Mandate to the bishop of Ely and the priors of Ely and Norwich [as above] to go to the said monastery, and make a visitation of it without prejudice to its privileges; but if the above statements of the abbot and convent are untrue, then the visitation is to be carried out by those to whom it was at first committed.

(f. 32d.)

Mandate to the bishop of Coventry, on the signification of Margaret de Lasey, that when she wished to build a house for religious women she got a site from the king, which, without consulting the diocesan, and without her husband William's knowledge, she put into the hands of the Hospitallers. at their request, believing that colleges of women could be established under their rule. Some women were brought by her into the house, and were professed and clothed by the brethren; but, on her considering that, at the order of the prior of the Hospitallers, they were bound to go to other places, and cross the seas, and that, in this case, her purpose would be frustrated, she went to the pope, and in her simplicity stated that the said women had professed the Augustinian rule, believing this to be so because they observed it in divine service, and she obtained letters to the bishop of Hereford, empowering them to leave the Hospitallers and live by that rule. But the said brethren put forward their induct, by which anyone who had taken the cross was prohibited from joining another order. Margaret therefore prays the pope to overlook her mistakes, and to allow the said women to profess the Augustinian rule. The bishop is ordered to carry out the mandate addressed to the bishop of Hereford; but if the place, by reason of the neighbourhood of the brethren, is suspected, then the other women being left to take care of the poor and sick of the hospital, the rest are to be placed in other monasteries. The bishop, the prior, and the archdeacon of Worcester are ordered to assist him.

Non. Dec.
Perugia.
(f. 248*v*.)

Mandate to the abbot of St. Albans, the prior of Dunstable, and the archdeacon of Norhamton, on petition of Master R. rector of Clive, that when the officials of the archdeacon of Canterbury, during the voidance of that see, usurped archidiaconal rights in that church in which the archdeacon has no jurisdiction, the said rector objected, and on their refusal to admit his objection appealed to the pope: but the archdeacon got papal letters addressed to the abbot of Boxel and his co-judges, before whom the rector's proctor made exception that the letter had been obtained by a suppression of the truth, and on this exception being disallowed, renewed the appeal, which the judges in contempt, and excommunicated the rector, who in ignorance of the sentence on his appeal obtained letters to the dean of Chichester and his fellow judges, the other party excepting that he should not be heard, being excommunicate when the rescript was obtained. The judges, however, in the end decided that he should be heard, on which the adverse party put in an appeal, which the judges reputing to be vexatious inhibited the former judges from proceeding in the matter, until the appeal was discussed before them. But since the former judges in contempt of the inhibition proceeded in the business, the rector propounded against them that they, as he was prepared to show, being excommunicate, he was not bound to answer before them; and as they would not hear him on this count he appealed to the pope, on which they, in contempt of the appeal, excommunicated him and the said judges. Afterwards the archdeacon and officials, making no mention of these things, obtained papal letters to the abbot of Waltham and his colleagues, and others to the prior of Holy Trinity, London, and his fellow judges, by the authority of which they so molested him that he was compelled to desist from the prosecution of his rights. The cause has thus gone on for three years, and the rector has therefore petitioned the pope to provide that it does not become altogether immortal. The above abbot, prior, and archdeacon are ordered to examine the case, and if they find that the sentences of excommunication were issued after the rector's appeal to the pope they are to annul them: but if the sentences were reasonably inflicted then the rector is to be held to make satisfaction, and they are to hear, and with the consent of the parties, to decide the cause; if not it is to be remitted to the pope.

Matter for a cause having arisen between them, papal letters were obtained addressed to the subdean of York and his fellow-judges, and the matter, though it has gone on for five years, is not advanced. It is observed that it is not safe for the said abbot and convent to litigate in England, and their means

Meanwhile they cited Rufinus, who appears to have known nothing of it, and deprived him of all his benefices in England except a prebend of Lincoln called 'Crophe' and the parish church of Ecclefield, and 6 marks of a prebend of Exeter which they assigned to him as making up the 200 marks; but deducting expenses, and seeing the manor in Ecclefield is not in beneficium sed ad pignus, the amount hardly exceeds 150 marks. Decree, addressed to Gilbert the Marshal of England, earl of Pembroke, and to Walter and Anselm his brothers, who have been unjustly deprived by the Irish of their castles, lands, and other tenements in Ireland. Perugia.
(f. 47.)

- 10 Kal. Aug. Mandate to the archbishop of Canterbury, on signification of the prior and convent of St. Swithun's, Winchester, that when four of their monks lightly came to Rome pretending that some of their goods had been taken from them and kept by the bishop, and at the instance of the prior and sounder part of the convent papal letters for their recall were obtained to the archbishop and the bishop of Rochester, on which the monks returned to their monastery and submitted; but Masters John de Kilkenn' and Nicolas de Wilton, advocates, demand 120 marks as salary for one year's advocacy in the said cause, and one of them has obtained papal letters to the prior of St. Frideswide's and his fellow judges in simple form, about a certain sum of money and other matters, though they gave their services for only three or four days, and were paid 11 marks. The pope orders them to be content with 10 marks in addition.

Mandate to the abbot of Welton, the prior of Merton and the archdeacon of Northampton, to summon the parties and bring to an end within four months the cause between the prior and convent of Rochester and the archbishop of Canterbury in regard to the election of a bishop of Rochester. The archbishop asserting that he is the patron, refused to confirm their election of Master Richard, rector of Bramblee, for eight years official of the diocese, on which they appealed to the pope, sending Alexander and Robert monks, and Masters William and R. clerics to petition the pope to confirm the election, or to sequestrate the revenues of the see, which the archbishop is converting to his own uses. If the above cannot carry out the mandate, the cause is to be remitted to the pope, a term being fixed for the parties to appear by proctors; notwithstanding papal letters said to have been obtained by the prior and convent of Canterbury to the aid of Battle and others in regard to the right which the archbishop claims.

12 Kal. Jan.
Viterbo.
(f. 94.)

Confirmation addressed to the prior and canons of Orbedir, in the diocese of Coventry, on the signification of the bishop of Coventry, of what he has done. The prior of Dunestable and his colleagues, appointed by the pope to visit the regular churches of the diocese, finding but five canons living in the said priory without rule under cloke of the Arroasian order, and leading a dissolute life, informed the bishop of it, and advised him to establish there the rule of St. Augustine in place of the Arroasian; which the bishop has done.

Ibid.

Power to the bishop of Coventry to deprive of their benefices sons and kinsmen of priests and clerks, who, though some of them are married or living with concubines, pretend to be clerks, and on the death of their fathers, take forcible possession of their benefices.

1236.

6 Id. Jan.
Viterbo.
(f. 95.)

Mandate to the bishop, the treasurer, and the chancellor of Lincoln, touching the convent of Coventry. Whereas the pope ordered the bishop of Coventry and Lichfield, and other suffragans of Canterbury, to visit, correct, and reform the clergy, regular and secular, in their dioceses, the monks of Coventry refused to admit their bishop. They were accordingly suspended and then placed under an interdict, which they did not observe, urging against the bishop that he did not produce the papal letters authorising the visitation, and was accompanied by secular clerks and suspect persons, and that he called himself bishop of Lichfield, and not, as his predecessors had done, of Coventry, and that there was a question pending between them before judges appointed by the pope in regard to the obedience due from them to the bishop, and that they had appealed from him to the pope in a cause between them and the rector of Alleslie, in contempt of which appeal the bishop issued the above sentences. The pope committed the cause to the prior of St. James's, Northampton, and his colleagues; and on its being found impossible to terminate the business in England, it was remitted to the pope, and heard before O. cardinal of St. Nicholas in Carcere, on whose relation the pope ordered that the above sentences should be observed until the prior and convent admitted the bishop with religious persons to visit them. They are condemned in costs amounting to 80 silver marks.

Non. Feb.

(f. 105d.)

Confirmation to the master and brethren of the hospital of St. Thomas the Martyr, Acre, of their settlement in that place, without exception from episcopal jurisdiction. The house was originally founded by king Richard for canons regular, who on his death had no means of sustenance. After some time the bishop of Winchester, who came thither on pilgrimage, by advice of the patriarch of Jerusalem and the great men of the realm, the cathedral and metropolitan churches being then void, transferred the house to a fitter place, removed the canons, and put in their room the said master and brethren living under the rule of the Teutonic house.

- 11 Kal. March. Grant of protection and confirmation of possessions, in accordance with letters of popes Innocent and Lucius, to Alexander bishop of Coventry and his successors: and namely the site of the church, and a hundred libras of land that is to say, Hardewie, Hunton, Druimerston, Wasperston, Seam; a moiety of the cess of Coventry and the church of Holy Trinity there; the mill of Olleston and 30s. in Winev' which the bishop's predecessor gave to the prior and monks of the place, with further orders by the pope.

15 Kal. May.
Viterbo.
(f. 142d.)

Mandate to the dean, the precentor, and the treasurer of Salisbury, to summon those concerned, and hear and decide the cause between the abbot and convent of St. Melaine, in the diocese of Rennes, in regard to the right of the abbot to appoint the prior of St. Mary, Hettfield Regis, contested by the bishop of London, in whose diocese it is, who, when the earl of Oxford, as patron, sent an outsider to be received as prior, refused to hear the monks' objections, and excommunicated them for saying that the abbot had the right of appointment; on which the abbot prayed that the sentence might be relaxed, and, on the bishop refusing to do so, on the ground that the said earl had deputed armed men to guard the priory, he appealed to the pope. But the bishop and earl, in contempt of the appeal, put into the priory W. a monk of St. John's, Colchester, upon which, on the part of the convent, a second appeal was made to the pope; and then the bishop excommunicated them, and those who held communion with them, and the said monk then carried off everything, removing the treasure and the books but, at the request of an archdeacon, gave the convent what was necessary, ordering his ministers to serve them not like monks but like swineherds, forbidding the cooks to give them fire or water, making the lay brothers and servers swear not to give them anything, closing the dormitory and offices, so that the monks had to return to St. Melaine. If not, the cause is to be remitted to the pope.

2 Id. April.
Viterbo.
(f. 144d.)

Mandate to the bishop of St. Asaph, the abbot of Drobo, in the diocese of St. Davids, and the penitentiary of Hereford, on the part of Walter de Lasey and Margaret his wife, to revoke what has been done in regard to the monastery of Cornebury, founded by them for sisters, under the rule of St. Augustine, about which there has been much litigation for four years, and an expenditure of 600 marks. They are to relax any sentences of excommunication, cause all papal letters obtained on either side to be produced, and remit the matter to the pope, with all the processes, ordering the parties to appear personally or by proctors to receive sentence, notwithstanding any indult to the contrary.

- 4 Kal. May. Mandate to the bishop of St. Asaph, the abbot of Dore in Viterbo. the diocese of St. Davids, and the penitentiary of Hereford, to (f. 149d.) summon those concerned and put an end to the cause between the subprioress and sisters of Corneburi and the Hospitallers in England in regard to the election of a prioress, which has now been delayed for six years; a further aggravation being the ill conduct of the Hospitaller priest appointed to hear their confessions and minister sacraments to them; they have also been despoiled of a certain yearly rent. Besides, Dionisia de Leeche and other sisters, presuming on the favour of the Hospitallers, have put off the yoke of obedience, and refuse to obey the subprioress. They are also to remit to the pope sufficient information about the cause between the Hospitallers and Walter and the Lord de Lacy, notwithstanding the indulgence held by the Hospitallers of not being summoned more than two days journey from Clerkenwell.

- 5 Kal. May. Confirmation to the king of the liberties granted by his Viterbo. ancestors to the royal clergies.
(f. 152.)

that there should be peace throughout the world for four years, for the sake of the Holy Land.

Ibid. Mandate to the provost of Beverley, and Masters P. de (f. 152.) Columpna and Hugh, canons of Chartres and Pisa, living at Paris, to annul the marriage made by proxy between the king of England and Joan, daughter of the count of Ponthieu, but which, on its being discovered that they were in the fourth degree of kinship, was not consummated: after which the king married Eleanor, daughter of the count of Provence: and to free the king from the oath he had taken to marry Joan.

Ibid.
(f. 156d.)

(f. 172.)

Mandate to the bishop of Coventry to receive the resignation of T. abbot of Evesham, who, on account of age and infirmity, has petitioned to be relieved of that charge, and to assign him what is necessary from the goods of the monastery, so that he may not have to share the refectory and dormitory, remaining however in obedience to the abbot, who is to be elected by the convent.

1236.

15 Kal. Aug.

Rieti.
(f. 176d.)

Mandate to the master of Sempingham and G. dean of York, to hear and bring to an end the cause between Bartholomew, rector of St. Keveran, in Cornwall, and the abbot and convent of Beaulieu, in the diocese of Winchester. On the death of Vivian, the last rector, the bishop of Exeter neglected to collate, whereupon the chapter, to whom the collation, according to the Lateran Council, devolved, collated the said B. But the above-named abbot and convent, sending a proctor to Rome, asserted that the earl of Cornwall, who had the patronage, had given it to them, the bishop making over to them whatever temporals he had in it. They also pretended that they needed money for hospitality, but conceded that they had 1,000*l.* of yearly rents, and being in a desert place, had little or no hospitality to exercise: they also passed over the fact that the bishop, who had unlawfully alienated many goods of his church, promised the chapter, before his translation and confirmation, not to alienate to religious or other places any churches or lands without consent of the dean and chapter; and thus obtained from the pope an order that they should retain the church for their uses. They revelling in the goods of the monastery, which could support many more monks, have turned the said church into a grange, and admit scarce a single guest.

Id. July.

Rieti.
(f. 177.)

Mandate to the bishop of Lincoln to proceed against those clerks of his diocese who discharge the offices of justice and sheriff, being obliged thereby to arrest and imprison persons, withdrawing only from criminal causes just before sentence is given, thereby in effect acting as judges; and as sheriffs are bound to execute the king's orders, however severe, to take part in duels, and judge in cases of bloodshed; all these being forbidden by the canons: yet they hold many benefices with cure of souls, and try to get more.

6 Kal. July.

Terni.
(f. 177.)

Mandate to the same to put a stop to the practice which obtains in some churches and sacred places of his diocese, of making the house of God a house of merchandise.

Kal. July.

Terni.
(f. 177.)

Intimation to the prior and convent of Christ Church, Canterbury, that the pope has ordered the letters of archbishop Anselm, in regard to their liberties and immunities, exhibited by them, to be registered (annotari). "Omnia ejusdem ecclesie filiis et fidelibus notum sit . . . anathema sit."

Kal. July.

Terni.
(f. 177d.)

Intimation to the same that the pope has ordered similar letters of king William to be registered:—"Episcopis comitibus proceribus . . . et Eude Dapifero," granting to Anselm archbishop of Canterbury, the rights of "Saca et Soene on Strangle et on Strame, on Woden, et on Velden, Teln et Theames, Gritbreche, Hamsen, Forestalles, et Infangenethieves," and all other liberties in land and sea, over his men within burghs and without, and over as many "Thames" as king 1236.

Edward granted to Christ Church. The King grants similar liberties to the monks of Canterbury, also the port of Sandwich, and all issues and customs on either side the water, as king Cnut gave them before, and confirmed by his codicil; also the houses and customs in the town of Sandwich, which Odo, bishop of Bayeux and earl of Kent, gave them by his charter. Witnessed by William, bishop of Durham, and Gundulph, bishop of Rochester, and Eudes, the sewer.

4 Kal. Aug.
Rieti.
(f. 181.)

Mandate to the bishop of Coventry, on the petition of T. abbot of Evesham, if he finds that he is too infirm to share the refectory and dormitory with the rest, to assign him, after receiving his resignation, a sufficient portion from the goods of the monastery; and to order the convent to elect an abbot, under whose rule the ex-abbot is to live.

4 Kal. Aug.
Rieti.
(f. 181d.)

Mandate to the abbot of St. Albans, the prior of Merton, and the archdeacon of St. Albans, to hear the cause between the prior and convent of Rochester, and the archbishop of Canterbury, in regard to the confirmation refused by the archbishop to the election of Master Richard de Wenden, rector of Bromley, and to bring it to an end in four months. As the archbishop claims the episcopal revenues during a vacancy, the prior and convent petition either for a confirmation of the election, or a sequestration of the revenues. The suit has been already brought before the abbot of Walsden and his colleagues, and afterwards before S. cardinal of St. Mary's in Trastevere. Otherwise the cause is to be remitted to Rome, notwithstanding the letters obtained by the prior and convent of Canterbury to the abbot of Battle and others, concerning the archbishop's claims at Rochester.

6 Kal. Aug.
Rieti.
(f. 182.)

Mandate to the same to hear the cause between the prior and convent of Rochester and the archbishop of Canterbury, in regard to a certain portion of the victuals of the convent, called the gift (exemption) of St. Andrew, with which the bishop or the prior and brethren in his absence are to regale the poor on the feast of that saint. The archbishop has seized this, during a vacancy together with other episcopal goods, as if it belonged specially to the bishop, disregarding precedent and appeal, and despoiling their towns and killing animals, so that they were forced to bring the matter before a secular court, which decided against them. But as the matter belongs to the ecclesiastical courts they pray the pope to declare the said sentence to have been given by a non-competent judge, and to order satisfaction to be made to them. If this mandate be not carried out within four months, the cause is to be remitted to the pope.

4 Kal. Aug.
Rieti.
(f. 182d.)

Mandate to the archbishop of Canterbury to desist from attempting to subject to himself the abbot and monks of St. Augustine's, Canterbury, contrary to the liberties granted to 1236.

them by popes: otherwise the pope orders the master of Seap-ingham, the prior of Holy Trinity, London, and the archdeacon of Sudbury to summon him personally or by proctor to Rome, to answer to the pope in regard to the above.

3 Id. Aug.
Rieti.
(f. 133d.)

Declaration to the convent of Canterbury that their consent to the archbishop's appointment of a prior shall not prejudice their right to elect.

Ibid.

Indult to the abbot and convent of St. Augustine's, Canterbury, that they shall not be summoned to a court distant more than two days' journey from their monastery in regard to their property within that distance, unless special mention of this indult be made in the papal letters.

2 Id. Aug.
Rieti.
(f. 134d.)

Mandate to the chapter of Rouen to receive and obey as their

Meanwhile the archbishop of Canterbury turned out W. de Plessi and put in Master William de Cerneia, of illegitimate birth, and not dispensed; who was thereupon cited before the said judges, but the king inhibited the process, as two of them have informed the pope, and their messengers, on presenting the citation to W. de Cerneia, were wounded. Also Robert makes complaint against the archbishop, that on his obtaining papal letters to the said archbishop against certain Jews in regard to immoderate usury demanded from him and his brothers William and Philip, who have taken the cross, the archbishop refused to accept the letters, and denied him access to his court.

(f. 279.)

Mandate to O. cardinal of St. Nicholas in Carcere, to hear the cause in which Thomas, rector of St. Nicholas, Warwick, declares that the church has been usually given to one person, 1237.

and that the canons of St. Mary's, in the same town, took on themselves to part it into three, appointing three rectors; two of these portions being at length void, he demanded of the late bishop of Worcester to have the church restored to its original state, as formerly settled in provincial council that in a church having more parsons than one the portion of one deceased should go to the survivor, and appealed to the pope; but the bishop conferred these portions as he pleased on others; Thomas, therefore, has petitioned that the church be restored to its condition as determined by the said constitution.

- 16 Kal. May. Mandate to the archbishop of York to correct abuses at Beverley. F. the provost complains that when the necessities of life were cheap, by improvident management the provosts ministered immoderate commons to the canons, chaplains, clerks, and ministers, from the goods of the provostship in the refectory of Bedern; and now that things are much more dear, and the Church has had some of its goods stolen, and itself attacked in rights and liberties, the absurdity arises that the same supply of food is continued to the extent of giving as much flesh and fish to one as would suffice for three or more; the goods of the provostship are wasted, and the liberties and rights of the church are undefended, the office of provost is carried on at a loss, and while others abound he is in want; the canons sell the broken meat that ought to be given to the poor, and spend the money ill.

Viterbo.
(f. 279d.)

(f. 285.)

1237.

3 Id. June.

Viterbo.
(f. 299.)

Mandate to the bishops of Glasgow and Dunkeld on the proposition of the bishop of Dunblane, that nearly all the goods of that church, after a voidance of the see for more than a hundred years, are occupied by seculars, and the rest since alienated by successive bishops, that the see has been again void for ten years. The present bishop finds no place to lay his head, there is no chapter, and but one rural chaplain in a church without a roof. They are to visit the church, and, if it can be done without grave scandal, to assign to the bishop a fourth of the tithes of all parish churches in the diocese, so that he may assign some to the dean and canons to be appointed by the above bishops of Glasgow and Dunkeld. If not, the fourth part of the said tithes held by seculars being assigned to the bishop, the see is to be transferred to the monastery of canons regular of St. John, in the said diocese; the canons for the future having power to elect the bishop.

[Theiner, 35.]

16 Kal. July.

Viterbo.
(f. 302.)

Mandate to Otho cardinal of St. Nicholas in Carcere, papal legate, to call and examine witnesses, and, with consent of the parties, to hear and determine the cause between Simon, a monk, Master Th. clerk of the convent of Norwich, and Master William de Kilkenny, the king's clerk, in regard to the business of the election of the prior of Norwich to be bishop of that see. If this is not done, the cause is to be remitted to the pope.

Ibid.

Articles objected against the bishop elect of Norwich. Amongst other things against the prior and bishop elect, on which witnesses are to be heard, are that he is of servile condition; and that, on the witness of his daughter, it appears that he is not continent. Also that both the elect and his electors are guilty of simony in buying from the abbot of Borreppes the patronage of the churches of Baweburk, Hunningham, and Costeshei. Also that they are guilty of simony in receiving certain persons as monks of their church for money.

(f. 363d.)

Indult to the abbot and convent of Peterborough, that they shall not be compelled by papal letters to make provision of benefices to clerks, unless special mention be made in them of this indult.

Kal. Mar.
Lateran.
(f. 363d.)

Mandate to the priors of St. Edmunds and St. Mary's, Huntingdon, and the treasurer of Lincoln, not to suffer the abbot and convent of Peterborough to be molested on account of certain papal letters. It appears that by papal letters the church of Castle in their gift has been conferred on Master Robert de Sumereot, papal subdeacon and auditor of papal litere contradicte, and they are also compelled by the bishop of Lincoln to make provision to H. clerk, by reason of other letters addressed to him. Other papal letters have been obtained by J. son of the late John de Berico, an Italian, and Nicholas, an Englishman, of the diocese of Lincoln, clerks, addressed respectively to the bishop elect of Valence, now in England, and to the archdeacon of Buckingham and his colleagues, in regard to benefices, about which J. and Nicolas are harassing the said abbot and convent; although in these letters 1238.

it is not expressly granted that provision is to be made of their benefices, they having already by papal mandate made provision to others.

Kal. April. Lateran.
(f. 3d.) Mandate to the archbishop of Rouen to examine and make a full report to the pope on a cause between the abbot and convent of St. Nicholas, Angers, and the prior and convent of Spalding, in the diocese of Lincoln; in which the abbot and convent assert that they have been despoiled of the priory, and claim that a composition entered into between them shall be annulled; together with other matters, about which the archbishop is to enjoin the abbot and prior to declare and answer truly under oath, as also in regard to the positions transmitted in the pope's bull. Witnesses on either side are to be examined before the Kalends of November, and rebutting evidence on the part of the abbot is to be accepted up to the Kalends of February. The whole report is to be made, and promoters of both parties ordered to appear before the pope by next Kalends of April.

Lateran. oath from those concerned in causes against them plead custom (f. 6.) or other exemption, and to compel them to take oaths before ordinary or delegated judges.

- 12 Kal. May. To the king, advising him, for the good of the kingdom, not Lateran. to allow the earl of Cornwall, from whom the pope has lately
(f. 7.) received a letter, to set out for the Holy Land. If the earl's desire in this regard is to be sanctioned, it is better for the Holy Land that all the English lords should not go at once.

Ibid.(f. 7d.)

The like to Richard earl of Cornwall, urging him to place himself at the disposal of the king and realm in regard to his intention of setting out for the Holy Land; but if he is determined to go, the pope desires that gifts to the Holy Land suitably, or whatever may be collected in the realm by order of the cardinal legate, should be kept in the Temple at London, and assigned to the earl and other crusaders on their arrival at their destination.

6 Kal. May.

Lateran.
(f. 12d.)

Mandate to the archbishop of York to examine into the election made by the convent of T. prior of Durham to that see, and if canonical to confirm it, the king having refused his assent to the same, and his proctors having asserted that the prior is an enemy of the king and realm, and is suspected of simony. Lateran.
(f. 17.)

Mandate to the same papal legate, to compel the bishop of Chichester and Master William of that city to restore to Alatrinus, papal subdeacon and chaplain, the treasurership of Chichester given to him by the pope, with reservation to the said William, paying a pension of equal value to him until the bishop should provide for him in his diocese. This pension the said William has for many years not paid, nor has the bishop, as ordered by papal letters, made provision to Alatrinus, though he might have done so when the precentorship (cantoria) of Chichester was void, the church of Kuckefeld, of the patronage of the prior and convent of Lewes, being assigned to him; and the chapter has refused to observe the composition made by the said chaplain and Master William's proctor in regard to the reuts of the treasurership, thereby causing the said chaplain great trouble and expense. If they refuse to do this, the legate is to put the chaplain's proctor in possession of the treasurership, and protect him when so inducted.

18 Kal. May.

Lateran.
(f. 18d.)

Mandate to Otho cardinal of St. Nicholas in Carcere, papal legate, to fix next Christmas as the term for the appearance before the pope of the archbishop of Canterbury and the prior and convent of the same, who say that the indulgence granted to the archbishop to restrain and punish monks of that church is contrary to their privileges and ancient custom.

Ibid.

Mandate to the same to fix next Christmas for the appearance before the pope of the archbishop of Canterbury and the prior and convent. The former wishes to found a college for secular canons, but the proctors of the prior and convent oppose these proposals, and plead in opposition indults and privileges granted to them by Roman pontiffs. He is also to inspect the place which the archbishop of Canterbury intends to choose as the site for the college, with what goods he purposes to endow it, and how many canons there are to be, with other particulars, and to make a full report to the pope.

Kal. Oct.
Anagni.
(f. 53d.)

Mandate to the bishop of Lincoln, the archdeacon of Norampton, and the chancellor of St. Paul's, London, on petition of the king, showing that, on the voidance of the see of Durham, the convent, asserting that they had canonically elected their prior as bishop, begged their metropolitan to confirm the election. But the king, considering that the election of the said prior would injure him self and his realm, caused exceptions to be made before the archbishop, pointing out that the prior was the king's enemy, the illegitimate son of a female servant, a homicide, simoniacal, guilty of other crimes and illiterate; which the king was ready to prove. The archbishop admitted the two exceptions of hostility and simony, but afterwards refused to admit the king's proctor to prove them, who thereupon appealed to the pope; but the convent obtained papal letters to the archbishop and the legate to conclude the matter. The bishop, archdeacon, and chancellor are ordered, if the king can prove the simony and hostility within two months, or if, on examining the election, they find it uncanonical, to annul it; but, if it is canonical, they are to confirm it, and to order the archbishop to consecrate the bishop elect.

(f. 73.)

Mandate to the bishop of Worcester to cause to be observed the papal sentence in the suit heard by the bishop of Ostia, and by him reported to the pope, on the presentation of Master Simon, papal subdeacon and chaplain, who, in the presence of O. cardinal of St. Nicholas in Carcere, papal legate, stated that during the voidance of the see of Norwich the presentation to benefices and patronages of that church and diocese belongs to the king, who, hearing that R. de Blonvilla, archdeacon of Norfolk, obtained the rectory of Thorneham on the death of Robert its late rector, by avoiding the archdeaconry, presented the said chaplain [Simon] to the archbishop of Canterbury for institution to the said archdeaconry; upon which the chaplain prayed for institution from the legate, and for the removal of R. from the archdeaconry. After many pleadings on either side the pope's sentence is that as it was not proved that the archdeacon received a benefice with cure of souls, after getting the archdeaconry, the archdeaconry was not thereby void; but as the archdeacon admits that he held archdeaconry and rectory together he is deprived of the former.

Lateran.
(f. 74.)

Grant to the archbishop of York that he shall not be bound by papal letters obtained by certain clerks of England to make provision to them of prebends or rectories, as they assert he is, if they are not content to accept perpetual vicarages or other benefices of the value of 20 silver marks.

4 Kal. Mar.
Lateran.
(f. 74.)

Mandate to the same to make enquiry and remit to the pope a full report on the petition of the abbot and convent of Mount St. Michael. The late count of Brittany granted to the said monastery the manor of Wat, in the diocese of York, which grant has been confirmed by successive kings of England, and they have always had two monks on the manor, but Robert Marmien, knight, of the diocese of York, claimed the manor in right of his wife, and the predecessor of the present abbot was summoned before the king's court, where the said knight offered to prove by duel that the manor was his, which challenge, although he had other defence, the late abbot indiscreetly accepted. The combatants fought in a place appointed by the king, the knight bringing a multitude of armed men, and the knight's champion was more than once brought to the ground, on which the knight's party interfered to rescue him, and threatened death to the abbot and his champion, so that the abbot, fearing that death would ensue, came to the spot and renounced his right, which renunciation the knight would not admit save by way of peace, and payment of a sum of money. The abbot and convent therefore pray that this renunciation made without the consent of the convent may not hold good, as by it the monastery is very greatly injured. The parties are to appear before the pope personally, or by proctors, within a fixed time.

7 Kal. Mar.
Lateran.
(f. 76d.)

Mandate to the abbots of Croxton and Neubo, and the prior of Beauver in the diocese of Lincoln, on the petition of the abbot and convent of Rievaulx, to hear a cause between them and the prior and canons of Giseburn about certain tithes, formerly heard by the official of the archdeacon of Cleveland.

8 Id. May.

(f. 76d.)

Faculty to the archbishop of Canterbury to institute and endow a college of secular canons in any church of his diocese belonging to him.

13 GREGORY IX.

11 Kal. April.
Lateran.
(f. 99.)

Mandate to the abbots of Croxton, Neubo, and Barlinges, not to suffer the abbot and convent of Rievaulx to be molested in regard to the papal indult by which their possessions, acquired before the general council, and cultivated by their own hands, or at their expense, are not subject to tithe; as it appears that certain persons assert that their mines and turbaries are not worked by them or at their expense, and therefore exact tithe from them. The pope declares that these, as well as their other possessions, come under the terms of the indult.

5 Id. April.
Lateran.
(f. 101.)

Mandate to the archdeacon of Derham in the diocese of Norwich, on petition of Hugh de Bilne, clerk, in the cause between him and Thomas, clerk, of the diocese of Norwich, about the church of Kimburle, brought by appeal of Hugh to the pope, and committed to the prior of Derham and colleague, with order that the parties should appear before the pope within a given time, fixed by the said judges in the octave of St. Andrew. Hugh, having waited for three months for Thomas to appear, prays the pope to intervene. Thomas is ordered to be condemned in costs as contumacious, unless he can show lawful impediment.

18 Kal. May.
Lateran.
(f. 101.)

Mandate to Otho, cardinal of St. Nicholas in Carcere, papal legate, to grant a dispensation to Matthew de Cantilupo, clerk, of the diocese of York, brother of the bishop of Worcester, so that, if he be found worthy, he may hold an additional benefice with cure of souls, provided that he resides in one and has the other served by a vicar.

1239:

17 Kal. May. Grant to the master and brethren of the hospital of St. Mary, Lateran. Dover, that they and their successors shall observe the rule of (f. 101d.) St. Augustine.

10 Kal. May. Mandate to the bishop of Lincoln to freely carry out the pope's order in regard to the archdeacon of Buckingham, who holds a plurality of benefices without papal dispensation, notwithstanding his appeal to the pope and the papal letters obtained by him to the dean of Norwich and archdeacon of Sudbury.

16 Kal. May. Mandate to the priors of Rochester and St. Augustine's, Lateran. Canterbury, and the archdeacon of Rochester, on petition of (f. 103d.) the abbot and convent of Westminster, in regard to the church of Aiswelle, of their patronage, in the diocese of Lincoln, which by papal indult was granted to them to hold to their uses, at the next vacancy, a vicar's portion being reserved, and to which, on the death of the rector, they demanded to be inducted by the bishop of Lincoln, presenting to the vicarage a fit person. Whereupon the bishop, asserting that he had received a papal mandate to make provision of the said church to Nicolas, a clerk of his diocese, excommunicated the abbot and some of his monks and servants, who, to protect their rights, entered into possession of the said church, which the bishop also put under an interdict.

If this is so, the pope orders the above to annul the said sentences and the collation made by the bishop, and to induct the abbot and convent into possession of the said church.

Ibid. Indult to the abbot and convent of Sallei, in the diocese of York, to enter into possession of, and hold to their uses, the church of Tadeaster, of which the right of patronage has been granted to them by Matilda, countess of Warewie, and William de Perly, patrons of the same, the indult to take effect on the death or resignation of the rector, a vicar's portion being reserved enough to support all charges of the bishop, archdeacon, and their officials.

12 Kal. May. Confirmation, with exemplification, on petition of John de Verecelli, papal subdeacon, prebendary of Walton in the cathedral of Lincoln, of the sentence given by Thomas, cardinal of St. Sabina's, in a cause between the said John and the archdeacon of Buckingham about the church of Buckingham. The archdeacon has to make restitution of the church, and pay 100 marks for fruits received the question of costs is reserved.

Ibid. Mandate to Ocho, cardinal of St. Nicholas in Carcere, papal legate, to see that the above sentence is carried out.

1239.

8 Id. June.
Lateran.
(f. 110d.)

To the archbishop of Canterbury, in answer to his request to the pope for licence to endow a college of secular canons, with benefices in his gift and archiepiscopal revenues, against which the proctors of the church of Canterbury have brought many arguments before the pope. After reviewing the whole case and the suggestions of Hallinton, Maidstone, and Lambeth as the sites, the pope decides that the papal indult already granted is to have its effect.

15 Kal. July.

Lateran.
(f. 114.)

Commission to the bishops of Glasgow, Moray, and Caithness, to enquire into the election of the abbot of Aberbreddoe, with the king's consent, to the see of Aberdeen. According to the relation of Stephen and Richard, proctors of the dean and chapter, the clergy of Aberdeen deputed four of the chapter and three of the clergy to make the election, which the pope is now prayed by the dean and chapter to confirm, and to order the bishop elect to be consecrated. If the election has been made of a fit person, and canonically, the above bishops are to confirm it, consecrate the abbot, receive his oath according to the form sent in the accompanying bull, and cause him to receive the obedience of the clergy and people of the diocese of Aberdeen. If not, they are to annul the said election and proceed to make another. [Theiner, 38.]

14 Kal. June.

Lateran.
(f. 114.)

Mandate to Otho, cardinal of St. Nicholas in Carcere, papal legate, to confer on Master Robert de Gloucester the church of Heynesforth, collation of which has, by papal authority, been made to him by the abbot of Boxley, and in which he has been canonically instituted, William de Carney, or any other subsequent holder of it being removed; but if any prior incumbent has any right in it, then provision is to be made to Robert of an equivalent benefice. The said Robert and Berardus, as proctors of the archbishop of Canterbury, and Reginald, as proctor of William de Carney, of the diocese of Rochester, pleaded on either side before Thomas, cardinal of St. Sabina, appointed by the pope to hear the cause, and it appears that after the said church had been given to Robert by the abbot of Boxley, the archbishop gave it to William.

2 Non. June.

Lateran.
(f. 114d.)

Confirmation, with exemplification, to Master Robert de Gloucester of the sentence given by Thomas, cardinal of St. Sabina's, in the cause pleaded before him by the said Robert and Master Berardus, proctors of the archbishop of Canterbury, and Reginald, proctor of William de Carney, in which the archbishop's proceeding is annulled. The sentence is dated Rome, 7 Id. May.

7 Id. July.

(f. 116d.)

1239.

Kal. Sept.

Anagni.
(f. 123d.)

Mandate to Otho, cardinal of St. Nicholas in Carcere, papal legate, on petition of Master Richard de Garde, dean of St. Patrick's, Dublin, who by papal indult received a dispensation from the archbishop of Dublin to hold two benefices with cure of souls, he being then rector of Tunbridge, in the diocese of Rochester, after which, on receiving and holding the deanery by virtue of the said dispensation, the Hospitallers in England believing Tunbridge to be void, presented to it P. clerk, of the diocese of Rochester, and on the question between Richard and P. being raised before the legate, the bishop of Rochester gave the said church to Robert (sic), clerk, of Dover. The pope decides that the indult is to be maintained, and the dean put in possession of the church.

17 Kal. Oct.

Anagni.
(f. 125d.)

Confirmation to the abbot and convent of St. Mary de Gloria, Anagni, of a grant made to them for their uses, a vicar's portion being reserved, of the church of Magor, in the diocese of Llandaff, now void by the resignation of Master Alan de Sancta Fide, the patronage of the same having been already given them by the Marshal of England, earl of Pembroke.

Kal. Sept.

Anagni.
(f. 125d.)

Mandate in regard to the above, addressed to Otho, cardinal of St. Nicholas in Carcere, papal legate, directing him to cause to be assigned the vicar's portion, and to give his letters patent containing the course of the whole business to D. monk and proctor of the monastery, now in England.

15 Kal. Oct.

Anagni.
(f. 126.)

Indult to the prior and convent of Bromholm, in the diocese of Norwich, to hold to their uses the church of Haninges, value under 20 marks, the patronage of which they state that they possess. The grant is to take effect when the church is void, and a vicar's portion is to be reserved.

Kal. Oct.

Anagni.
(f. 127d.)

Mandate to the bishops of Glasgow, Caithness, and Brechin, to enquire into the election made to the see of St. Andrews of Master David de Birkham, the king of Scotland's chamberlain, and, if canonical, to confirm it and consecrate him, such election having been made under papal bulls and by licence of the king, after the pope's refusal to admit the postulation made of the bishop of Dunkeld. The pope has ordered this enquiry to be made because, of the three proctors sent to the pope, one is dead, another detained by sickness, and only Master Richard Vairement, secular canon, the king's proctor, remains.

[Theiner, 39.]

3 Non. Oct.

Anagni.
(f. 128.)

Mandate to Otho, cardinal of St. Nicholas in Carcere, papal legate, to cite the prior, bishop-elect of Durham, to appear before the pope within a fixed time. The king refused his consent to the election of the said prior, and on the convent praying the archbishop of York to confirm it, the king's proctors pleaded before the archbishop that the prior was the king's capital enemy, and guilty of simony, and had taken an oath of 1239.

fealty to the king of Scotland. The archbishop first admitted the pleas of simony and hostility, but afterwards only the latter, and finally refused to allow the king's proctor to proceed to proof. The king thereupon appealed to the pope; but the other side obtained papal letters to the archbishop; and afterwards other papal letters on behalf of the king were obtained, addressed to the bishop of Lincoln and his colleagues, which the king did not use; and proctors of either side came to the pope, before whom various allegations were made, and the see of Durham suffers from being meanwhile void.

- 11 Kal. Nov. The pope sends to the archbishop of Cashel the pallium which he has asked for, by Simon, a canon, and David, a clerk of that church; the bishops of Emly and Ardfert, bearers of the same, are to receive from the archbishop his oath of fealty to the pope. [Theiner, 39.]

- 10 Kal. Nov. Confirmation to Stephen de Segrave, of the diocese of Coventry, of the gift of the tithes and offerings of his manor of Calwedon, which the rector of St. Michael's, Coventry, to whom they belong, with consent of the bishop and chapter, made to the chapel built on the said manor.

n.d. Indult to the abbot and convent of Begeham, in the diocese of Chichester, that no one shall exact from them tithes of the mills they have newly made, or of the first crop of hay on their lands.

- 15 Kal. Dec. Protection to Richard, earl of Cornwall, his wife, children, family, and goods. In case of his death beyond seas, his son Henry shall remain under the same protection until he attains the age of twenty-one years.

9 Kal. Dec.

Lateran.
(f. 130.)

3 Id. Jan.

Lateran.
(f. 136.)

Monition and mandate to the prior and convent of Winchester, in regard to the election or postulation to that see. The postulation of the bishop of Chichester not having been admitted by the pope, and the prior and convent not having proceeded to an election in due time, they petitioned the pope by their proctors Richard de Leyeestria and Gilbert de Crundel, monks, to restore to them their right of election or postulation; but Master Robert, proctor of Hugh, archdeacon of Winchester, and of Luke, archdeacon of Surrey, opposed this, saying that the archdeacons have a voice in the election or postulation; upon which the pope issued a mandate to Otho, cardinal of St. Nicholas in Carcere, papal legate, directing him to bring the parties to an agreement. Failing this, the prior and convent are to join with those concerned in the election or postulation, and fill the vacancy by canonical election or postulation.

2 Id. Jan.

(f. 137d.)

Mandate to the bishop and archdeacon of Worcester, and the abbot of Evesham, if the bishop and dean and chapter of Lincoln refuse to come to an agreement about the bishop's 1240.

jurisdiction, which the dean and chapter refuse to acknowledge, on the pretext of letters of previous bishops granting to them the same liberty as canons of Salisbury, to admonish and induce the latter to obey the bishop and respect his rights in correcting excesses of the canons. Failing this they are to hear the cause and decide it, if the parties are willing; if not, to remit it to the pope, appointing a term within which the bishop and dean and chapter are to appear before him.

13 Kal. Feb.

Lateran.
(f. 137d.)

Non. Feb.

Lateran.
(f. 141d.)

8 Id. Feb.

Lateran.
(f. 141d.)

Mandate to the archbishop and archdeacon of Canterbury, on petition of the earl of Warren, stating that his ancestors had founded and endowed the Cluniac priory of Lewes, where a hundred monks live and exercise almost indiscriminate hospitality; and that at length the abbot and convent of Cluny, under pretext of spiritual jurisdiction, made inroads on the property of the said priory, so that H. the earl's father and I. his mother, seeing their ancestors' intention thus abused, made an agreement (by the mediation of the late archbishop of Canterbury and the bishop of Norwich) between themselves and the said abbot and convent, that the abbot of Cluny should be content to take yearly from the priory 100s., and make no further exaction, reserving his spiritual jurisdiction. But as the archbishop and archdeacon of Canterbury, under pretext that the papal letters bidding them to cross all monasteries of that order in England to pay a tenth of their revenues for three years to the abbey of Cluny, which is burdened by debt, made no mention of the above agreement, exact such tenth from the said prior and convent, the pope orders them to cease from doing so till further orders.

7 Id. Feb.

Hardel, the king's clerk, and give him a prebend, notwithstanding that he has two other benefices with cure of souls, for which he has, as he says, a papal dispensation.  sessions and other things belonging to her dower. An agreement was made, but the said N. and C. asserting that by fear of Alan, their lord, it was made too much in favour of the other side, obtained papal letters to the abbot of Tunkeland in regard to the annulment of the said agreement. After various

On the archbishop's appeal, other letters were obtained to the abbot of Evesham and his co-judges, who, reserving the final sentence to themselves, committed the case to the dean of Abendon and his colleagues; on which the earl appealed to the pope against the action of these sub-delegates, and obtained papal letters to the prior of Dunestaple and his colleagues.

was called by Otho, cardinal of St. Nicholas in Carcere, papal legate, to preside over that church, he found it more stripped of its goods by the prelates and barons of those parts than could be believed, and among them by his own suffragans, of whom the late bishop of Clogher was the worst of his persecutors. The late archbishop of Armagh going to the pope obtained letters to the said legate ordering him to revoke all processes, and, if no composition could be effected, to bring the cause to an end. The bishop of Clogher being dead, petition is made for the union of the churches. [Theiner, 40.]

(f. 64.)

Mandate to the bishops of Exeter and Hereford and the abbot of St. Edmunds, to enquire and report to the pope, in order that he may proceed in the matter of the abbot and convent of Glastonbury as against the bishop of Bath, about the right of patronage which the bishop claims over certain manors and other things, the composition that has been made being to the great injury of the monastery. Both parties are to appear by proctors before the pope, within a given time.

7 Kal. April.

Lateran.
(f. 64.)

14 Kal. May.

Lateran.
(f. 68d.)

Mandate to the bishop of Coventry and Lichfield, and the treasurer and the precentor of Lichfield, to assist the proctor of R. cardinal of St. Eustace's against those who have laid hands on his ecclesiastical and temporal goods in England.

Ibid.

Mandate to the same to warn and induce the abbot and convent of Croyland to restore to the church of Castre, of which R. cardinal of St. Eustace's is rector, a portion of the marsh belonging in common to the abbey and the said church, which they detain.

15 Kal. May.

Lateran.
(f. 76.)

Mandate to the archdeacon, chancellor, and precentor of York, concerning a cause between Nicholas de Karden, knight, and C. his wife, and the abbot and convent of Drundraynan, in the diocese of Whitehern, about C.'s dower. They complain that when the cause was brought from the hearing of the abbot of Gedewrd to the pope, who committed it to the archdeacon of St. Andrews and his colleagues, Alan de Galwechia, temporal lord of N. and C., forced them, by taking their goods, into a composition injurious to them. After Alan's death, by an appeal to the pope, they obtained letters to the abbot of Tungland and the dean and the official of Glasgow, but as the dean and official were distant more than two day's journey from the monastery, whose abbot and convent are freed by papal indult 1241.

from citation to that distance, the process could not be held. They then sent their proctor to Rome, but the other party getting before the proctor and pretending that he appealed from the abbot of Tunland and his colleagues, in that they admitted R. the son of N. and C. as a witness in the cause, obtained papal letters to the abbot of Dribure and his colleagues, before whom it was excepted on the part of N. and C., that these letters made no mention of the former ones addressed to the abbot of Gedewrd and the archdeacon of St. Andrews, nor of the processes and the composition, so that by them they ought not to proceed. This objection was overruled by the abbot of Dribure, whereupon N. and C. appealed to the pope, but the judges, disregarding this, excommunicated them. Meanwhile the proctor obtained papal letters to the dean of York and his colleagues, ordering them, on the production of all letters obtained on either side, to terminate the cause, or, if not, to remit it to the pope. These letters not being yet presented, the abbot of Drundraynan, to compel them by labours and expenses to cease from prosecuting their right, came to Rome and obtained R. cardinal of St. Eustace's to hear the cause, who revoked the letters to the dean of York and remitted the parties to the abbot of Dribure, on which N. and C. again appealed to the pope to put an end to the cause. The pope orders the above to relax provisionally the sentence of excommunication, and having all the documents before them to hear the cause, and terminate it. If not, to remit it to the pope, ordering the parties to appear personally or by proctors, notwithstanding the said indulgence to the abbot of Dundraynan, and to the king of Scotland, that his men may not be summoned out of the kingdom by papal letters.

- 12 Kal. June. Mandate to the archdeacon of Northampton to order the documents to be produced, and the sentences issued on either side provisionally relaxed, and restoration made to the bishop of Ossory of his bishopric and his goods, and to bring to an end within six months the cause between the said bishop and the archbishop of Dublin, to whom an appeal had been made by M. a priest of the diocese of Ossory, whom the bishop had ordered to put away his concubine. The archbishop suspended the bishop, fined him 60 marks for contumacy, and made him sign letters by which he bound himself under oath and a penalty of 100 marks to cease to interfere with the clergy and people of Ossory. A papal mandate was thereupon sent to the bishops of Worcester and Hereford and the dean of Hereford to relax the penalty, and cause the money to be repaid; which mandate being disregarded by the archbishop, who meanwhile excommunicated the bishop, the judges fined him 45 marks for contumacy. On this, pretending to appeal, he obtained papal letters to the bishop of Lisnore and his fellow judges, the bishop of Ossory's proctor appealing on his side; in contempt of which the said judges excommunicated the bishop of Ossory, whose Lateran.

(f. 76d.)

bishopric was thereupon occupied by the archbishop, who carried off all the bishop's goods deposited in the house of the Friars Preachers at Kilkenny, extorted an oath of fealty from the bishop's men, and appointed to void benefices in his diocese. All this and more has been going on for four years, and as the archbishop is powerful in Ireland the bishop of Ossory cannot litigate with him there, nor can he prosecute his appeal on account of war. If the above archdeacon cannot terminate the causes within the given time, or if either of the parties appeal to the pope, the process is to be remitted under seal to Rome, and a day fixed for the appearance of the parties. The bishop is not to be summoned by the archbishop beyond the realm of England, nor otherwise molested by him.

Kal. June.

If both elections were uncanonical, they, annulling both, are to cause a fresh election to be made.

CURIAL LETTERS.

Kal. Mar.
Lyons.
(f. 301.)

Letter to the king, in which the pope says that Bartholomew Pesce, the king's envoy, and brother Ralph, a Trinitarian, envoy of Richard, earl of Cornwall, had asked three things: first, that he should preserve their right in Provence; second, that he should send a legate to Charles of Anjou to prohibit him from continuing to occupy cities, towns, and castles of Provence, until his right is fully discussed before the pope, with the effect of a certain dispensation granted to him; third, that he should, for a certain time, place no faith in a certain testament of the count of Provence, which he had revoked.

The pope adds that Master Laurence, king Henry's envoy, had often before spoken before him about these matters. He answers that he will not at present proceed to the required prohibition, as no one has yet appeared on behalf of the king or his brother, but that he will induce king Lewis and Charles to freely offer to their sisters-in-law, the wives of king Henry and earl Richard, their rights in Provence. He does not see that the said dispensation affects the king's rights. It did not mention the woman whom he has married or any other. Will not believe the said testament further than is just.

- 5 Kal. May. To the bishop of Norwich, in answer to his question about Thomas de Ravenigham, whom the pope decides is his father's son and heir. It appears that Thomas de Ravenigham married Cassandra, and, having had by her a son and heir, Thomas, died. Hugh, a layman, Thomas's paternal uncle, endeavoured to shut him out of his inheritance, asserting that Thomas could not be Cassandra's husband, inasmuch as Thomas's brother William had espoused her, though the marriage was not consummated, and that therefore Thomas, the heir, could not be his legitimate son. But the said Thomas alleged that Cassandra was under seven years of age when espoused to William, and as he was born of a marriage contracted in the face of the church, and no doubt was thrown on his legitimacy during his father's life, he ought to be judged to be legitimate. The uncle alleged in reply that Cassandra, when espoused to William, must be presumed to have been of age, unless the contrary is proved: witnesses on either side being unable to determine this point. The pope says that to deprive Thomas of his inheritance not only ought it to be proved that Cassandra when William espoused her was of the age of seven years, or that the espousals were continued after that age by the will of the parties, but also that Thomas knew this when he married her, of which Hugh brought no proof.

Faculty to John, prior of Holy Trinity, London, on account of his services to Master Albert, papal notary and legate in England, to hold and administer the said priory. He was unanimously elected by the canons, and, although the ceremony of deportation did not follow, he promised to treat them according to the order, and so eventually obtained confirmation from the diocesan and he has ruled the said church for more than two years. He was afterwards suspended in his absence by Master Robert, precentor, John de Cleham, papal chaplain, canon of London, and John de Hemingford, clerk, after inquiry by order of the diocesan for non-observance of his oath. This oath or promise, though lawful as to its matter, is of a simoniacal nature, and he is dispensed from any penalty in consequence thereof, with suppletion of whatever defect there may be in his promotion, and notwithstanding that the pope has committed the same matter to Master Adenulf, papal subdeacon and chaplain.

The bishop elect and official of Winchester are appointed conservators.

The pope has already ordered Master Peter called 'Egyptius,' canon of York, to make provision of a benefice in England to Anibald, clerk, son of the late Anibald, steward of R. cardinal of St. Angelo; but when provision was made to him of the church of Stentrop, in the diocese of Durham, and Master Walter de Merton, who held that church, opposed such provision, the cause between Anibald and Walter was at length brought to an amicable composition by the bishop of Bath, whose arbitration was confirmed by the pope: but since Anibald got little or nothing by this composition and provision, the pope ordered the prior of Merton, in the diocese of Winchester, and Master W. de Turri, canon of London, papal subdeacon, to make some provision to Anibald, who, however, became a Friar Preacher. The pope, at the said cardinal's request, transfers the provision to Richard.

Lateran.
(f. 118.)

Mandate to the abbot of Waltham to cause Master William de Kilkenni, clerk, of London, the king's chancellor, to be received as canon of London on his resigning a certain prebend in favour of Alexander de Ferentino, papal subdeacon and chaplain, and to make provision to him of another prebend, the said Alexander having had conferred on him by G. cardinal of St. Eustace's, in accordance with the pope's verbal mandate, a canonry of London and a prebend, when void, which the pope confirmed by mandate addressed to Master Berard de Nimpha, papal writer, and Philip de Alatro, chaplain of O. cardinal of St. Mary's in Via Lata, directing them to install the said Alexander. They sent a mandate to the above effect to the dean and chapter, but the prebend, then void by the death of Thomasius de Anesty, canon of the said church, was in elusion of the above mandate given by the bishop to Master William, the dean and chapter contending that the mandate did not affect them, as the collation of prebends belonged to the bishop, and that the number of prebends and canonries could not be increased. Thus the said chaplain got nothing by the provision, upon which the pope ordered his chaplain, Master Rostand, to hear the proctors of both parties, and, on his report, the pope orders that Alexander shall have the above prebend, and provision of the one next void be made to William.

The bishop committed the mandate to Peter and James, clerks, of Ferentino, living in England, who gave James the church of Welewes, in the diocese of Lincoln, which he was unable to retain, as it was held to the uses of the monastery of Alliwel, in the diocese of London, and confirmed thereto by the pope; and, although the pope enjoined the same bishop that provision should be made to James of some benefice in her gift by the abbess of the said monastery James betook himself to the order of St. Augustine, so that Angelo had all the trouble and expense for nothing, in consideration of which the pope orders provision to be made to his other son Leonard.

Abbots also and priors of divers orders have obtained by purchase or other crooked contracts the right of patronage in parish churches, applying them to their own uses; other abuse of patronage, and acts of nepotism are reported. Such alienations, sales, or purchases of patronage and advowson are annulled, and restitution is to be made by those concerned, and a report is to be sent to the pope, that he may take such proceedings as may be necessary.

Papal letters having been issued to the bishops of Clonmacnoise and Leighlin and the vice-prior provincial of the Friars Preachers in Ireland to examine and report to the pope on the matter, the suffragans desisted from their opposition, and prayed the pope to confirm the election made by the chapter.

(f. 189.)

Confirmation and suppletion, with exemplification, addressed to Master John de Camezan, papal chaplain and auditor of contested papal letters, rector of Wingrave, in the diocese of Lincoln, on his petition, stating that pope Innocent, whose nephew he is, ordered the abbot and convent of St. Alban's to exchange the church of Wingrave, which he held on their presentation, for a better one in their gift; and on the church of Hartburne, in the diocese of Durham, becoming void by the death of the rector Hugh, they refused to exchange it for Wingrave. Upon this Master John obtained papal letters to the abbot of St. Augustine's, Canterbury, who committed the cause to Master Walter de Sine Muro, canon of Beaune; and on the cause being remitted to the pope, John, cardinal of St. Laurence's in Lucina, was appointed to hear it, with the consent of Master William de Sancto Eduardo, proctor of the abbot and convent. It was proved that the church of Hartburne had been given by the bishop to the abbot and convent, who were therefore absolved from this claim, but sentenced to pay to Master John an annual pension of 25 marks, until they made provision to him of a benefice, value 80 marks, and to pay costs and damages; and if the abbot and convent made provision of a benefice of less than 80, and at least 50 marks, Master John should hold with it the church of Wingrave, and the pension should cease. But if the abbot and convent gave a benefice, value 80 marks, to anyone else, then they were bound to pay as pension the value of the benefice, to cease on his promotion. This sentence the pope confirms. The procuration of the abbot and convent to William de Herton, monk, and William de

The pope does not believe that it was the intention of Innocent IV. that the spiritual right of appointing to churches should pass with the assignment of manors made for the temporal sustentation of bishop Nicholas, and therefore decides that the collation of the church by bishop W. is valid.

Alan called 'Hostiarius,' brother-in-law of the king of Scotland, claims the said earldom, on the ground that William's ancestors, Morgund and Duncan, were of illegitimate birth. He obtained papal letters addressed to the bishop of Brechin, and his colleague, to hear the cause, but they remitted the process to the pope, who committed it to cardinal Otho, before whom the opposite party produced certain letters under a papal bull, containing the tenor of the letter to the said bishop, which William had obtained to the abbot of Jeddwrd and his colleagues, by which the said letters addressed to the bishop and his colleague, if such was their tenor, as had been inserted in the second letters, are said to have been declared false by the pope. But, on the continued litigation of the parties, the cardinal, on Alan's proctor being unable to produce the original of the letters which he asserted on oath was in Scotland, with consent of both parties, cancelled the letters and processes on both sides, granting licence to the parties to obtain (papal) letters on the matter in question.
